.EVANGELIST MORGAN TO MOVE TO ST. LOUIS IN JANUARY.

Will Be Early Upon the Ground in In-Evangelistic Work.

The Reverend G. Campbell Morgan announced last night that the committee in charge of the evangelistic work in St. Louis during the World's Fair had promised him that the undertaking should not suffer for the lack of funds, but he could not say as to the plans of the committee.

Mr. Morgan intends to take up his residence in St. Louis about the 1st of January and begin the campaign at that time.

The plan is to start the work from one central location and later branch out to different sections of the city.

and models in church conduct; but until we have received the Holy Ghost we have no true understanding of the revelation of God in Christ. We have no religion in the sense of the New Testament. When we receive the Holy Ghost we look into the face of God and see him as he is. Ye men of the Twentieth Century, why stand ye gazing into heaven? Because we are looking for the continuous outpouring of God in the descent of the Holy Ghost.

"The world and the Christian view all things from a radically different standpoint. The Christian looks up, not down; without, not within; godward, not manward. His life is from above, and he gazes always into heaven, whence it flows. To the world this is foolishness, but to him it is truth and the power of God to eternal living. His gazing increases in intentness, and quietness, through experience in this new knowledge. As Columbus sailed west new stars came into view; as he moves onward new truths come forth to speet and guide him, until at the last he sees the face of God.

"There are two distinct features in the Christian life—the meditative and the active. When the disciples hard the word of the angel, they went forth from the meditative into the most intensely active work for Christ. All the great activities in the world for the good of humanity are inspired and led by Christianky. Many are the efforts and the institutions for the relief of mankind, made and built in the name of other than Christ; but the principle that he vivified, 'Love fly neighbor as thyself,' lies at the root of all humane enterprises.

Ecclesiastics have tried to make the truth secure by prohibiting research and the exercise of reason, but that time is passing away and ought to be entirely gone.

"We should welcome light from all quarters. If we have the truth as we are confident we have, the light will not hurt it, but make it all the more resplendent. The supreme worship of the true is the only means for purifying all religions and all sects. So, we say to you, students here this morniag, do not be afraid of light, but welcome it at any price, at any necessary change of belief, and be satisfied with nothing but the truth.

"We cannot long search the Bible for truth without finding him who said: I am the truth.' Jesus did not come to tell the world about science, nor to act as authority on questions of Old Testament manuscripts and authorship, but upon vastly more important matters. He was and is to the world, pre-eminently, religious truth, the truth about saivation, character, destiny and the kingdom of heaven. Jesus's truth is for the deepest longings of the human soul, the answer to the erring sous cry for a savior.

"By following Jesus saving truth can be found, for there is truth for the soul, religion for the heart. No one can afford to fail of obtaining this truth for character, for nothing transcents it. It is the pearl of greatest value. No good can be higher than that of the gospel to make men true, to lead them to thisk truly, speak truly, to become in character and consuct the truth as it is in Jesus. Milton W. Robinson, a resident of West Pittsburg, drove to Schenly Park with a party of friends for an afternoon's enjoyment. When the storm came up Robinson sought shelter from the drenching rain under a big ash tree in Panther Hollow. He had been there but a moment when lightning struck the tree, literally tearing it to pieces and killing Robinson instantly. Robinson's four or five friends, who were within twenty-five feet of him at the time, encaped without even a shock from the holt. At Haddock lightning struck a street cur on the McKes sport branch of the Pittsburg Railway Company and caused a panic among the passengers, many of the men jumping from the car as it specified own the hill. Three of them were badly braised, and Christopher G'Tell, who fell on his head, is perhaps fatally hur.

The women passengers tried to jump also, but were prevented by some of the cooler headed among the men. Much damage was done to shade trees, many being blown down, and several were spill in twain by lightning. The rainsform was followed by a hallstorm.
